

the Stack - Fixed size area of memory allocated when a process starts to hold primitives, temp values, arguments, the location part of a reference variable.

If Java needs to create something in the stack and there is not enough room - Stack Overflow error theHeap - the memory currently available on the local computer; holds the data portion of a reference types.

